"My first impression on listening to this recording was a sensation, unusual with these pieces, of spontaneous ease, as if they posed no difficulties to Perlemuter. Then as the first few Preludes unfolded I found myself catching my breath in wonder at something in each Prelude – the effortless flexibility of phrase in the first, the sonorous legato and singing line in the second, and every Prelude brings such revelations.

Perlemuter's various Chopin recordings have long been of distinction, but this one rises to a class of its own. Even by Vlado Perlemuter's exacting standards this is a visionary achievement".
